MISSION

The Department of Corrections creates a safer Georgia by effectively managing offenders and providing opportunities for positive change.

VISION

To be recognized as the best corrections organization in the nation.
I am honored to be one of the 12,000 dedicated employees who make up the Georgia Department of Corrections. Our team strives daily to carry out our mission of running safe and secure facilities housing 60,000 inmates statewide and protecting the public through the supervision of 160,000 probationers within our system.

During fiscal year 2013, many advances were made towards criminal justice reform. For example, to assist with the growing population of offenders who suffer with substance abuse issues, the Department implemented eleven Day Reporting Center (DRC) Lite programs in rural cities. DRC Lite provides programming to areas not able to support a traditional, physical Day Reporting Center. Additionally, due to the increasing number of violent offenders entering the system, structural changes were made to our highest security facilities, and a tiered phase program was implemented to help these offenders in segregation transition back into general population. Our agency will never stop evaluating and improving our processes and will remain focused on the goal of making Georgia a safer place by working to increase an offender’s chance of staying crime free.

It is with pleasure that I present the Department of Corrections’ Annual Report for Fiscal Year 2013. This report outlines the Department’s current state of affairs and the accomplishments our professional team has achieved this fiscal year. I am delighted with our advancements and look forward to our continued achievement of success in the upcoming years.

Brian Owens
Commissioner
The Board of Corrections is comprised of 18 members, as of January 2013, one in each congressional district in the state and five at large members. The Governor appoints all members, subject to the consent of the State Senate, to staggered five-year terms.

The Board develops rules governing the conduct and welfare of employees under its authority; the assignment, housing, feeding, clothing, treatment, discipline, rehabilitation, training and hospitalization of all inmates under its custody; and all probationers sentenced to its supervision.

The members serve on the following committees: Budget, Correctional Industries, Education/Programs, Facilities/Probation, Food & Farm, Health Services, Nominating, Operations, Recidivism and Utilities. The Board of Corrections is a policy-making statutory board and has legal status only as a board. The operation and management of the GDC institutions, facilities, and probation systems are the responsibility of the Commissioner.
