Changes to UDS Population 2001

The Georgia Department of Corrections had 123 death sentence cases as of January 1, 2002. One hundred and twenty-three (123) inmates were legally under death sentence (UDS). This number includes those at the Georgia Diagnostic & Classification Prison, Metro State Prison and those who are out to court but still under death sentence.

During 2001, the following changes were made to the UDS population:

- 1 new inmate was added.
- 4 inmates were executed by means of lethal injection after an October, 2001 ruling that electrocution was unconstitutional.
- 1 inmate was removed from the UDS count due to his sentence being reversed.

The following tables give the names of those UDS inmates and former UDS inmates who changed legal status in 2001.

Under Georgia law, there are three offenses that are punishable by death. Those crimes are murder, rape, and kidnapping. Of the 123 currently under death sentence, 122 were convicted of murder and one was convicted of kidnapping. There are currently 65 (53%) white men and 57 (47%) black men under death sentence. There is one white female on death row at Metro State Prison. Twenty-eight percent serving time on death row report a high school education, and seventeen percent report some college. Fifty-four percent of these inmates report living with both parents during childhood.

Of the 104 inmates that reported employment status at the time of incarceration, 47% were employed at the time of arrest. Forty-five percent of the active death row inmates are single with an average of two children. When looking at prior incarcerations, 67% of the active UDS inmates have no prior incarcerations. Muscogee County is the county with the highest number of convictions on death row, followed by Cobb and Douglas counties.
